HARRIS,

The ONE-PRICE Clothier ST. LOUIS BLOCK, MAIN STREET.

In our show window you will see some tidbits that we are of fering this week. Take a look in the one on the north and 'you will see some of the prettiest styles of cheap underwear ever shown in this city. The gray pattern at $1 a suit would take the cake were it not for that delicate red and blue stripe, a suit of which you can occupy if you are the happy posessor of 60 cts. Sale lasts but this week.

You are probably aware that the advent of warm weather has given a great impetus to business-not that we were idlebut we do say that trade shows the effect of Old Sol beaming upon it. because a week ago the trade seemed to know but one thing, and that was that they ought to go to Harris' and buy a suit, but it was horses' work to learn from them what they wanted. They were irresolute, hesitating between a fur coat and a linen daster, but now "a change comes o'er, 'etc.-they know what they want and ask they know where to get it.

Our trade the past month has been something incredible. We never have had particular occasion to join the "Kickers" Club," but—our business has increased to such an extent that we feel we owe an obligation to our patrons for their more than liberal patronage, and hereby acknowledge it.

We sometimes wonder what gives occasion for people to remark, "Why. Harris, your store is the only one in town that seems to be doing any business." We might tell them with some degree of truth that the reason therefor lay in the fact that we work harder for trade, we give greater inducements to trade and show a better selected stock than any house in Helena or the terriinducements we offer is our line of medium priced suits. A man of ordinary intelligence is aware that it is not a feat with loud noise and a flourish of trumpets, and at the same time conceal the fact that he is cutting in quality, also. We are forced to these remarks by the host of imitators who, seematched them in quality. We will show them a trick worth two like that before the season is over; but in the meantime we will announce that we have just a few of those Ten Dollar Suits left, some sixty three in all. Now, as a matter of fact mazy complication of haberdashery that makes you think of the prize window dressing of the metropolis. It is the work of the inimitable Nash, and any of the thousand nobby, stylish and durable WIPES you there will see can be bought for Fair Fight Promised When Sullivan and Kilrain Meet in the Ring in Louisiana.

Betting Men Still Shy, but a Virginian Offers Odds on Boston's Pride.

John L. Doing Great Work at His Training Ground-A Brutal Battle-The Baseball Record.

NEW ORLEANS, July 1.—Bud Renaud has received a letter from Charley Reed, the veteran turfman, urging him to see that the Sullivan-Kilrain meeting is fairly conducted and that the men be allowed to fight to the finish. Bernaud replied that every effort would be made by the manageevery effort would be made by the management to secure the results mentioned by Reci; that he hoped the affair would result to the entire satisfaction of every sporting man in the country, so far as fairness is concerned. Notifications continue to come in from all sections, stating that parties are coming, and the management are daily raising the estimate of the probable attendance.

Betting men are still wary, but there is no end of interest in the fight, and New Orleans is now affected with the worst kind of athletic fever. Curiosity is expressed as to when the trains are to leave the city for the battle ground on the morning of the fight. The place picked out, it is said, is not on the railroad trace, but is not far enough away to make it difficult to reach. The fact that there are several spots on the line of the road in several parishes sets at rest all doubt as to police interference. If there should be any indication of interference by the officials at one point—an event not at all likely to occurte the train will move on a piece further.

Jack Barrett, Sullivan's representative, this morning received a despatch from large and a set of the train will move on a piece further.

utes Sullivan put the heavy ball and then hammered at a heavy rawhide bag for three-quarters of an hour. "If he lands one of those in the first round," said Muldoon to a reporter, as with his old swinging right hand blow Sullivan sent the ball whizzing to the planking, "about five thousand people will leave the ring side disgusted at the brevity of the contest."

Apparently not quite tired after his hour's labor, John seized a skip rope and with a light step skipped 1,000 consecutive times without a miss. Muldoon then threw a huge blanket over his charge and threw a huge blanket over his charge and led him to a couch where he lay for a minled him to a couch where he lay for a min-ute perspiring freely.

"Tell my friends about this," said John to the reporter, "so they can refute the statements that my legs are gone." A rub-bing down and a succession of shower baths concluded the morning's work and preparations for the journey then began.

Both men were soon covered with blood and the floor finally became slippery with gore. In the sixth round Danforth injured his right hand. As the fight progressed Lynch had all the best of the fighting, pummelling Danforth again and again. The latter seemed, however, to have limitless endurance, and managed to come to time again and again when it was thought he was done for. In the nineteenth round Danforth got in a stinger which broke Lynche's jaw. This evened matters up somewhat, as he thereafter played for that spot. They kept at it, however, hammer and tongs, and finally in the twenty-second round Danforth struck Lynch while in the act of rising after being knocked down. Agents of the railway company have handed over the line to Portuguese officials, and have made a value.

The day after the accident, as filli continued to breath, the surgeons determined to do what they could to relieve him. An incision eight inches long was made in the center of the base of the neck and the spinal column was bared. The crushed bones were thus made visible. The fragments pierced the spinal cord and some of publication. Persons supposed to know the proposed to know the spinal cord and some of the neck and the spinal column was bared. St. Paul, July 1.—T. F. Oakes, president of the Northern Pacific railway, in an interview in this city, denies emphatically that his company proposes to withdraw from Canadian relations. He says they are building rapidly in Montana and admits negotiations are under way looking to the purchase of the Northwest Central railway.

"Did you see the article in which the affiliation between the Northern Pacific and Grand Trunk roads was predicted?" was asked.

"That was the great inducement to buy the Wisconsin Central. By that road we get close connection at Chicago with the Grand Trunk. We desired closer connection with that road and have now got the property of P. O'sullivan, the indicated interview in the strong and have now got that isst week a woman who amounced that the Section New York to marry Sitting Bull, crossed over to the way from New York to marry Sitting Bull, crossed over to the adaptive to marry Sitting Bull, crossed over to the agency. See said that she had see Sitting Bull while on his tour east several years ago and that she their determined to have him for a husband. She had a little boy with her about 16 years of age. The sheriff says the woman is not bad looking and about 20 years old. Sitting Bull has already two wives, and Major McLaughlin, the Indian agent, was loth to permit her to see Sitting Bull was never before blessed with a white squaw and he contrived to see the lady and escorted her back to the ferry boat.
